What is a Resident Director?

LIM College feels it is important to have a full-time, professional administrative staff member who lives in our building. This position supervises and coordinates hall staff, oversees the development of hall programs, and works with the staff and students to promote an environment that is conducive to social and intellectual growth. The Resident Director can be found in the back lobby of the 1760 building during office hours. RD hours and contact information will be posted at the beginning of each semester at the office in the back lobby of 1760.

What is a Resident Advisor?

The Resident Advisor is a full-time student at LIM College who acts as a direct liaison between the administration and the students who reside in our hall. She/he is a trained staff member hired for their high level of maturity, social skills, enthusiasm, and desire to serve the community. The RA will establish a one-on-one relationship with each member of their community and maintain an open door atmosphere that encourages students who are having difficulty adapting to college life to come in and discuss their problems. They also serve as a neighborhood resource, school advisor, mentor, mediator, peer leader, and friend. The RA will provide these services through a series of community building and educational development programs.
