

◀ RETAIL: Nordstrom reports 67.9 percent decline in profits, page 2.

◀ EYE: All around L.A. at the Oscar after parties, pages 16 to 17.

▶ FASHION: The latest from London Fashion Week, including Giles, Aquascutum and Christopher Kane, pages 8 to 10.

◀ ASIA REPORT: Price and value gain traction, page 12.

Women's Wear Daily • The Retailers' Daily Newspaper • February 24, 2009 • $3.00

WWD TUESDAY

Ready-to-Wear/Textiles

IN BRIEF

- CLASSROOM MENTOR: Paul Olszewski, award-winning director of windows at Macy's, will be an adjunct professor in the visual merchandising department of LIM — The College for the Business of Fashion, in New York. He will continue at Macy's, as well. Olszewski's work, which includes the 2008 Macy's Herald Square windows, themed "Believe," has been widely featured on TV and in print. He has won industry awards for his visual merchandising and holiday store windows. Before joining Macy's, Olszewski was with Neiman Marcus and Bergdorf Goodman.